

Maple® 7 supports Windows XP

WATERLOO, CANADA, January 7, 2002— Waterloo Maple, a leading provider of advanced software products for mathematics education, research and industry, announces that it has added Windows XP to the list of officially supported platforms for Maple® 7.

Comprehensive tests and customer feedback have confirmed that Maple 7 runs efficiently and robustly on Windows XP.

"We have completed our full suite of acceptance tests for Windows XP and Maple 7," states Paul Mansfield, Vice President of Research & Development for Waterloo Maple. "We are extremely happy with the results and are pleased to offer our customers an officially tested and supported Windows XP solution."

Maple 7 is the latest version of the world's most trusted mathematical problem solving software. Widely adopted by universities, colleges, research institutions and companies, Maple 7 delivers the comprehensive environment and support resources to visualize and explore mathematical concepts, develop application tools and share mathematical information and documents on the Web.

About Waterloo Maple

Founded in 1988, Waterloo Maple is a world leader in mathematical and analytical software. The Maple system embodies advanced technology such as symbolic computation, infinite precision numerics, innovative Web connectivity and a powerful language for solving a wide range of mathematical problems encountered in modeling and simulation. Over a million users have adopted Waterloo Maple products as their preferred platform for exploring and managing complex problems in engineering, science, mathematics and technical education. Virtually every major university and research institute in the world, including MIT, Stanford, Oxford and Waterloo, has adopted Maple to enhance their education and research activities. Waterloo Maple's industrial customer base includes Nortel, Raytheon, Boeing, and DaimlerChrysler. For more information see www.maplesoft.com.

Maplets is available for review by industry media.

For more information contact:

Madelaine Currier

Manager, Public Relations

Direct Line: (519) 883-0097

Email: mcurrier@maplesoft.com

©2001 Waterloo Maple Inc. Maple is a registered trademark of Waterloo Maple Inc. Maplets is a trademark of Waterloo Maple Inc. All other trademarks are property of their respective owners.